

Pink wishes ... and caviar dreams

By shopping, you can help raise money for the fight against breast cancer.

You can join the fight against breast cancer by doing something you love doing anyway: shopping. October is Breast Cancer Awareness Month, and we've turned our sights on pink.

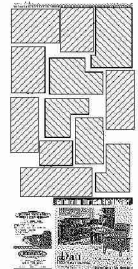

Here are a few of our top pink favs.

Pink Snuggie fleece throw ($14.99) at Bed, Bath & Beyond. A portion of the proceeds from the sale of this product benefits the Breast Cancer Research Foundation.

Prescriptives pink ribbon palette for cheeks and eyes ($48.50) at prescriptives.com. Prescriptives will donate $20,000 in connection with North American sales to The Breast Cancer Research Foundation.

Privacy Wear Tee Destiny

Ribbon in white ($48) at repeatpossessions.com. RepeatPossessions will donate a portion of the T-shirt sales to Susan G. Komen for the Cure.

Fuchsia desktop day planner

($24) at momAgenda.com. This month, momAgenda.com will support the Breast Cancer Alliance by donating 20 percent of the proceeds from the planner.

Swiffer dusters and sweepers are going pink in October

($4.29 for the limited edition pink Swiffer Duster and $10.99 for the limited edition pink Swiffer Sweeper) at most Wal-Mart, Target and grocery retailers. The color change is part of Give Hope, a P&G effort to raise funds and awareness for the National Breast Cancer Foundation.

The Pink Kit by Colorescience

Pro ($60) at R medical spa at Renaissance Plastic Surgery, 145 St. Peters Centre Boulevard in St. Peters. The kit contains a face gem spritzer, lip serum and two powder eye shadows. A portion of the sales will go to benefit local chapters of the Susan G. Komen Foundation.

KEDS pink Champion shoes ($40) at keds.com. Sales will benefit the Breast Cancer Research Foundation.

Pink jacket from the Brooks for Her Collection

($60) at brooksrunning.com. Brooks will donate 6.25 percent of retail sales from the jacket to three charities: Making Memories Breast Cancer Foundation, Fred Hutchinson Cancer Research Center and The Young Survival Coalition.

Lisa for Loft limited-edition bracelet ($24.50) at Ann Taylor Loft stores. The store will donate $5 for each bracelet sold to The Breast Cancer Research Foundation.

Pink Bluetooth hands-free handset ($17.99) at CableOrganizer.com. CableOrganizer is donating a portion of the proceeds to The Donna Foundation, a nonprofit organization that raises funds to meet the needs of women living with breast cancer.

Estée Lauder's Golden Ribbons mirrored compact ($55) at Macy's. Proceeds from the sale support The Breast Cancer Research Foundation.
