Use the P3 Kill A Watt to save home energy

Are “vampire electronics” bleeding your budget dry? Maybe, if you keep things plugged in even when they're turned off. Hairdryers, cell phone charges, TVs and other devices are still pulling power from the outlets. The worst culprits are those with LED indicators.

CableOrganizer.com has some solutions. The P3 Kill A Watt tells you how much power your gadgets are using whether they're off or on. You also can try the Smart Strip power strip, which can tell the difference between a primary device such as a computer or a secondary item such as a printer.
